THE MOVIES VERSUS THE STAGE

Commercial Appeal.

It has remained for William A. Brady, a professor of many plays, to come out with a frank denunciation of the moving picture industry as it is operated today and to point out, in a practical way, the injury it is gradually inflicting on the theatrical world.

Mr. Brady must admit, however, that the moving picture industry has grown with miraculous strides. It can no longer be doubted that it exercises a wide influence in the amusement world. It is no longer an experiment. Millions of dollars are invested in moving picture enterprises. It fills a long felt want. That the theatre has suffered, and will continue to suffer, we willingly admit, but it must, in all honesty, be remembered that the picture business is not responsible for this.

Why should Mr. Brady more or less feel that the public will cheerfully spend two dollars to see them in a popular picture house when the same public can see them in the theatre for ten cents in a moving picture house?

Mr. Brady pointedly asks:

Where are the plays today?

what have we? Moving pictures. And what? Moving pictures. The rehearsing of every old situation the drama has ever known.

But Mr. Brady has much to reckon with. He may enjoy the convulsion in knowing that the motion picture play will never entirely take the place of a well-acted drama. Every character in the motion picture play is an exaggeration. No actor or actress has yet appeared on the screen who proved to be perfectly natural. It is necessary to exaggerate every expression in order that it may be emphasized by the camera. The salient forcefulness and consistent intensity of perfect acting is overshadowed by the striving for effect, which can only be properly reproduced in an exaggerated way.

The art of real acting lies in vocal expression. The voice is a wonderful organ. A strong emotional play may be enjoyed in the absolute darkness, the voice tells so much. The blind can enjoy almost any well-written play when properly presented. The motion picture will always hold an important place in the esteem of the people. The electric piano will never fulfill the mission of the artist, nor can the motion picture ever be expected to fill the place in the theatre now occupied by our best players.

THE GLASGOW PLAN

In Glasgow, Scotland, if you ride on a trolley, you pay one cent for any ordinary distance, while even the longest rides cost but two cents, says the Philadelphia North American.

If you use gas for lighting or cooking, the charge is 60 cents for one thousand feet. The municipality owns the trolleys and the gas plant, also, the electric light plant, the markets and the harbor ferries.

All street cleaning is done at night. The city sewage is treated chemically and the solid residue utilized at the city's farm to fertilize fields in which is raised fodder for the city's horses.

Glasgow has seven municipal lodging houses, where the poor may get good clean accommodation for 7 or 8 cents a night. Also there is a municipal "family home" to accommodate families of widows or widowers who are obliged to be away from their children during the day. The public baths accommodate an average of fifteen hundred persons every day of the year round, and there is a bath for the poor. In this way, they save a number of public washings and a fine thing for the taxpayer. The use of every modern laundry appliance at a cost of 4 cents an hour.

To many readers this brief and incomplete resume of Glasgow's progressiveness will not be "news." For nearly fifty years the world has been aware of this city's social and economic advance. Wherever men discuss municipal betterment Glasgow is known and admired.

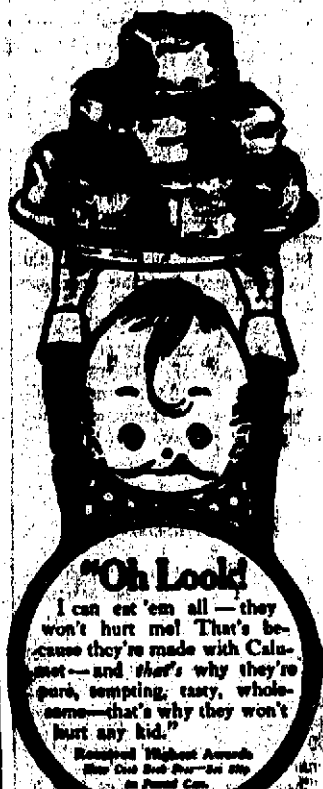

But back of all its achievements in this line is a phase of the work which is not generally known, we think. And this, particular feature of Glasgow's plan for progress explains a question often asked:

"Why is it that 'reform' has not been ordered out in Glasgow?" for in nearly every other city "reform" does seem to lose its grip after the first flush of change.

The best answer to this question will be found in the following statement, recently made by a widely known engineer who visited Glasgow on a tour of inspection:

"I went out to the water-works one day. There I found a class of perhaps two hundred boys from 10 to 12 years old studying the system. Another day I went to the sewage purification plant. I found another big class of boys studying that system. One day I asked a little fellow about a transfer on the street car line, and he told me everything one could know about the whole transfer system. I couldn't understand how he happened to know so much about it, and suggested that perhaps his father was an official. But no—he explained that his class was required to pass an examination on the subject."

"What is the result of this early training in the details of the public utilities." Why, the result is that when these boys become of a voting age they are experts on these civic problems; they know the needs of the public utilities, and the city gets what is needed."

Of course, this is the biggest thing Glasgow has done. Nearly any city could make some radical changes in ownership of public utilities and in performance of public service under the spell of the moment. Under just such circumstances more than one city has made certain changes of this very sort. But within a few years, in most instances, the pendulum has swung back.

"But in Glasgow nothing is left to chance. It is not enough to show the grown-ups that municipal ownership is advantageous; to give them convincing pocketbook proof of this! These grown-ups will grow old and drop off; so to prepare for this inevitable change in the population the boys and girls are educated in municipal betterment.

They are shown why certain things are best as they are—taught in a practical manner the benefits of good government.

And being thus well informed in regard to the actual order and condition of civic matters, no glib tongued gangster can come along and pull the wool over their eyes or buy their votes away from real betterment. It is a plan that would work well in this or any other American city. For today ignorance is the chief obstacle to the kind of municipal government we should have.

You uncork that sunshine tank by letting some Prince Albert joy smoke fill his system via a jimmy pipe or makin's cigarette, for you never got such fun out of tobacco in all your life.

Get that P. A. flavor? Get that P. A. aroma? Go to it mighty cheerful, because P. A. can't bite! Puff away like you hit perpetual motion in the first round! And keep fired-up till the cows come home. For it's surefacts Prince Albert never groused any other man's tongue and won't grouch yours!

Get P. A. jimmy pipe joy and cigarette makin's happy, then you'll personally understand that no other pipe and cigarette tobacco ever was or ever can be like

Prince Albert. The patented process fixes that—and cuts out the bite and the parch. That's why pipe peaceful and cigarette peaceful men call the national joy smoke

You be a sport and take a chance on this say-so, because you've no idea of the bully goodness, of the joy's satisfaction, of the contentment and restfulness and that sort of thing, that hits every man who gets chummy with P. A.

Hammer this home for what ails your smokesappetite, because you've no time to lose getting introduced to this real and true man-tobacco that's ace-high and a yard wide no matter how you swing on it, jimmy pipe or makin's cigarette!

Get the Habit of Drinking Hot Water Before Breakfast

Says we can't look or feel right with the system full of poisons.

Millions of folks bathe internally now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath?" you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles if you could believe these hot water enthusiasts.

There are vast numbers of men and women who, immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is a very excellent health measure. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and the thirty feet of intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the body which if not eliminated every day, become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels, the quick result is poisons and toxins which are then absorbed into the blood causing headache, bilious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, colds, stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood and all sorts of ailments.

People who feel good one day and badly the next, but who simply can not get feeling right are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and freshening, so limestone phosphate and hot water act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is vastly more important to bathe on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowels pores do.

SURGEONS AND NURSES LEAVE FOR FRANCE

New York, November 17.—Thirty surgeons, including specialists in various branches of practice, and thirty-six nurses, sailed today on the steamship Noordam for London, as the second Harvard unit to nurse wounded soldiers. Dr. David Chace, in charge of the unit, said it would replace in part members of the first unit which went abroad last summer to serve three months. The party probably will be stationed at a base hospital in France.

There is more Calumet in this section of the country than all other places put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be inexhaustible. For a great many years, indeed, it was a local industry and produced considerable wealth, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science, however, has proved Calumet to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

PROHIBITION FOR GEORGIA

any other issue sat detached and looked on at the coming of air-tight prohibition with profound indifference. They had quit drinking themselves, or were intending to quit, and those who were still sitting up o' nights with the flagon might fight their own battles. These were not interested. Such an attitude by the great majority of the voting men, especially in the towns and cities, make the work of the prohibitionist easy.

Now we have it in Georgia: the sinuous pure article of prohibition is coming. In Georgia it is doubtful if today any county outside of Chatham, Muscogee and Richmond could be carried wet on a local option test. Thus our jury boxes are becoming filled more and more with men who will convict. That old standby, that sterling defense of the illicit whiskey man in Georgia, the complacent official, backed up by the complacent trial jury, is getting weaker and weaker in his complacency. The Telegraph will make bold to say that the breaking of the present law in Bibb has only been tolerated because the average man saw at once it was a fool law, or rather he saw shortly after it was in operation, and feeling so, he stirred not himself to enforce it.

There won't be that feature with the Stornell bills. They'll do the work and they are so drastic that it is apparent they have been so bolstered that it is not intended they shall be violated—at least by the commercialized interests within the state. Jurors will convict under such a law much more readily than they will convict under an ineffective one. They behave most consistently in the case of one the people have approved at the polls. But a really drastic law, its sincerity evidenced by its stringency, is the next best thing.

The jig is up—the game is over. For the blind tiger and the near beer man and the wholesaler in liquors the time has come to get from under within the next five months. Utmost fairness would have given eleven months—until October 1, 1916. But that was not to be. Five months' grace was, considering everything, quite a sizeable concession. It isn't much time to which to readjust the activities of the great number of people who have specialized in a certain line of business, but it is better than one month or ten days.

Savannah could hold out, effectively, we imagine. But we hardly believe Savannah will. The liquor can come in from the ocean side and thus evade pretty well the anti-shiping law which is the crux of the whole structure of the prohibition in the future. But there has been a growing sentiment even in the free and unfettered State of Chatham that the time is coming when all sensible folk should come in out of the wet, or at least hoist an umbrella. Savannah has been feeling her outlawry pretty keenly. It has hurt in a business way, not because Savannah has been much wetter than some other cities—here in Bibb we were the wettest in the state for years—but because Savannah glories in her insurrection and has never lost a chance to boast about it. This attitude has been resented and some Macon politicians can tell of long standing accounts which came from Savannah to Macon because the heads of competing Savannah houses had served on grand juries which would pay no attention to evidence showing the selling of whiskey. The honest to goodness down State prohibitionist who is a buyer from the city seller turned an extremely effective weapon against Savannah in many cases. So we imagine Savannah will bow to the inevitable to a large extent. There will always be more toleration there than in other quarters in the state and Savannah has evaded the law if the whole county wants to have it deep. But as a Savannah newspaper man explained it to The Telegraph some three months ago: where five years ago John B. (Gough) himself couldn't have gotten two hundred people at the outside to hear him, today even a prohibitionist speaker whose renown is limited to the state field can comfortably fill any auditorium except the big city one. That means something. And Savannah knows it means something—even the powers that be there know it. They are no fools, and they are getting ready to trim sails accordingly.

The wise whiskey man today is the whiskey man who is not figuring out how he can beat the game for two or three or even four years longer, but it is the men who are ready to make his money out and putting it into some other business. It is practically established that in seven years of prohibition, Bibb's a wise man, they say.

Washington, Nov. 17.—The federal trade commission today announced that on next Tuesday it would hold a hearing of the Association of American States of the World on the subject of dishonest advertising. The commission will hold a hearing whether it has jurisdiction to investigate dishonest advertising practice as a form of unfair trade. The commission will also hold a hearing on the subject of unfair trade practices. The commission will also hold a hearing on the subject of unfair trade practices. IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and lazy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's noxious waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The uric acid is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

With a view to giving those who have not yet used this new excellent remedy an opportunity of trying it, in the treatment of Bronchial affections, including Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Severe Colds and Hoarseness, to prove its merits, these druggists are willing to allow the public the profit which they would otherwise make and the proprietor is willing to lose money on the same, so as to give them an opportunity of trying it at partially their expense, knowing it will be found the best medicine ever used by anyone.

Even though not in need of a Cough or Cold Medicine at the present time, it will pay to buy now, as some such medicine is sure to be required before the winter is over, but this remedy cannot be obtained at less than full price again. Besides making this reduction, these druggists guarantee this remedy just the same as Dr. Schiffmann's famous Asthmador, and will return the money in every single instance if it does not give perfect satisfaction and even more—if it is not found the best remedy ever used for any of the above complaints.

This excellent remedy is sufficiently concentrated so that 50 cents' worth, when mixed at home, with simply one pint of granulated sugar and one-half pint of water (according to printed directions) makes a whole family supply (128 Teaspoonful) while bottles of the old, regular, ready-made kinds, of doubtful merit, and without a guarantee, usually average 20 to 32 teaspoonful.

It is prepared from strictly harmless plants, contains absolutely no chloroform, opium, morphine or any narcotic or injurious drugs which do most cough remedies, and can therefore be given to children with perfect safety. It is pleasant to take and children are fond of it. Besides absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy whatever, on the guarantee of the above well-known, reliable druggist who will refund your 25 cents if it is not found the best remedy ever used.

If a neighbor or friend could be induced to divide and pay for half the quantity, the cost would thus only be about 12 cents in each.

TWENTY-FIVE CENT COUPON—NO. 2.

This coupon and 25c is good for one (only), 50c bottle of Schiffmann's Concentrated Expectorant at N. H. McCallum's Drug Store, if your name and address is filled in.

PERIOD OF THE ETRUSCANS

Preserved in History Long Before the Romans Rose to Any Degree of Power.

Researches suggest that the Etruscans arrived in Italy from the East, on a voyage of discovery, about the year 1187 B. C. They settled in the region of what is now Florence after a struggle with the Ligurians and the Umbrians.

There they founded a confederation of twelve great cities long before Rome grew to importance. In time there were three Etruscan confederations of twelve cities each. Rome, a miserable village before this, became one of the cities in the last confederation formed.

Two kings of the Etruscan family of Tarquin, Servius Tullius and Numa, ruled over early Rome. The older inhabitants, however, were never satisfied with their rule, and after a long series of ferocious struggles succeeded in overthrowing them. The sea power of the Etruscans was definitely crushed by the Romans at Capua in 475 A. D.

PUTS OUT THE SWINDLER

Use of X-Ray Will Do Much to Abolish the Schemes of the Fraudulent Painter.

It has now been found possible to determine by means of X-rays whether a picture is an original, a restoration or a fraud. Thus the dodges of swindlers who touch up canvases to give them the appearance of "old masters" can be found out. When a doubtful painting is photographed with the X-rays every layer of color is revealed, for just as a bone appears distinctly in an X-ray photograph, despite its covering of flesh, so heavy pigment can be seen beneath a light surface color.

The painting out of a white drapery and the substitution of a dark form, the correction of a badly drawn hand, the addition of a new figure to enhance the effect of a picture, are all disclosed by the X-rays and the swindler's tricks are clearly revealed.

AN APPREHENSION.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "do you think military critics should be permitted to write about the war?"

"Certainly. Why not?"

"They're only likely to make matters worse. Those critics are always writing something that spoils somebody's disposition."

VENED.

Mr. Styles—It has been asserted by many eminent specialists that there is no doubt that by the heat of the pulse alone age of a person could be told.

Mrs. Styles—It really seems too bad that a woman can't keep, at least, that secret!

JUST AS WELL.

The giraffe is said to be the only animal in nature that is entirely dumb, not being able to express itself by any sound whatever.—Science note.

It is just as well. We never saw a giraffe that looked as if he had anything of importance to say.—Detroit News.

AN INSINUATION.

Miss Caustique—That dog of yours seems to be remarkably intelligent.

Softleigh—Yaws, indeed! I—aw—could not begin to—aw—tell you all he knows.

Miss Caustique—No, I suppose not.

HIS REWARD.

"What's the big celebration? Conquering hero or something?"

"No. One of the town boys murdered a fellow some years back and he's just been declared sane by a jury. That's the reception committee.—Buffalo Express.

A WINDFALL.

Mother—I have just heard something that you ought to know. Your father tells me that your husband is happily involved.

Married Daughter—Isn't that good! Now, maybe he'll make over to me the money he has.

Some of the more valuable pieces of the collection of furs that are to be sent to the next first lady of the land have been in the possession of the Blackfoot chief for half a century. Notable among these is a white buffalo skin—a calf buffalo. There is a legend connected with this rare skin, which is cherished by the Blackfoots. Chief Three Bears has refused repeatedly fabulous offers from fur collectors for this particular skin.

When the collection is complete arrangements will be made with the Interior Department here for Chief Three Bears, now 96 years old, to come to Washington with his precious bundle of furs and make the presentation to Mrs. Galt. According to Indian custom the presentation will be made a week or so before the date set for the marriage, so the distinguished squaw will have time to prepare her trousseau.

While it is not at all likely Mrs. Galt will follow out the idea of the Indians in using these furs to make one gorgeous cloak, there will be enough fur in the collection to trim all the winter dresses she will wear during the next few winters—provided the styles continue of trimming winter dresses with furs.

The club prize was won by Mrs. Wells and the guest prize, a crepe de chine handkerchief, by Mrs. Walker.

The guests were Mrs. Edward Cannady, Mrs. Charles Blum, Mrs. R. H. Wells, Mrs. T. M. Barnett, Mrs. Edwin Hawkins, Mrs. Felix Walker and Mrs. Eric Gellerstedt.

Miss Roland, Hostess

The Beta Delta Club was delightfully entertained on Wednesday afternoon by Miss Elsa Mae Roland.

Large yellow and white chrysanthemums were prettily used in the apartments arranged for the card tables.

After the games, a tempting lunch was served to the following guests: Mrs. George Young, Miss Janie Farmer, Miss Louise Liddon, Miss Harriet Heath, Miss Lucile Whiddon, Miss Nettie Leslie, Miss Sue Stapleton and Miss Ruth Stapleton.

Present for Mrs. Galt

Washington.—Word has been received here that the Blackfoot Indians, of the Glacier national park reservation, northeastern Montana, are preparing to honor Mrs. Norman Galt, fiancée of President Wilson, and a descendant of Pocahontas, by mailing as her wedding gift what will probably be the most elaborate assortment of furs ever given to a single person. This set of furs, embracing skins from forty-eight animals, is the Indians' idea of the proper material for the making of a cloak for a squaw of a nation's chief—especially since that squaw is to be the first having red Indian blood ever to live in the big white tepee at Washington.

The collection of furs will not be complete until the last of November or the first week in December, it is thought. The best Indian hunters of the reservation—Medicine Owl, Wolf Plume, Lazy Boy, Fish Wolf Robe and Two Guns White Calf included—are now scouring the mountain country that lies just south of the Canadian border in quest of the best furs to be had. They already have bagged fine specimens of Rocky Mountain goat, Big Horn sheep, elk, four kinds of bear, a moose, weasel, mink and marten.

BIG GERMAN FLOTILLA SPEEDS TO NORTHWARD

London, Nov. 18.—An exchange telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen dated Wednesday, gives a report that a flotilla of twenty-five German torpedo boats and a big cruiser passed Helsingborg, on the southwest coast of Sweden at 6 o'clock in the morning, proceeding at high speed northward.

Helsingborg is at the north entrance to the south that separates Sweden and Denmark. Vessels passing Helsingborg and proceeding northward enter the Cattgat, which leads by way of the Skagerrak into the North Sea.

You Need a Tonic

There are times in every woman's life when she needs a tonic to help her over the hard places. When that time comes to you, you know what tonic to take—Cardui, the woman's tonic. Cardui is composed of purely vegetable ingredients, which act gently, yet surely, on the weakened womanly organs, and helps build them back to strength and health. It has benefited thousands and thousands of weak, ailing women in its past half century of wonderful success, and it will do the same for you.

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Dr. J. C. Williams, R. F. D. No. 4, Alma, Ark., writes: “Cardui is the greatest medicine on earth. When I began to take Cardui, I was weak, nervous, and had such awful dizzy spells. Now I feel as well and as strong as ever, and eat and sleep most anything.”

Thousands of women have benefited by taking Cardui.
